REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The independent claims are: claims 1 and 30.

The present claims are deemed allowable over Yates (U.S. Patent No. 6,074,001), since Yates, the closest prior art of record, fails to disclose or render obvious the uniquely distinct features of "a layer of a resilient filler interposed between the frame and the covering" and "protuberances or recesses being aligned with respect to a mid-surface line extending at least partially along the length of said structure" in claim 1 and the uniquely distinct features of "a layer of a resilient filler interposed between said frame and said covering and having a through cavity", "at least one gel insert interposed between the covering and the frame in said through cavity of said resilient filler" and "protuberances or recesses being aligned with respect to a mid-surface line extending at least partially along the length of said structure" in claim 30, in combination with the other elements listed in these claims.

While Yates discloses a viscoelastic support structure including a frame, a flexible covering, and at least one gel insert interposed between the covering and the frame including a plurality of protuberances or recesses on the insert, Yates fails to anticipate or render obvious the distinct features of "a layer of a resilient filler interposed between the frame and the covering" and “protuberances or recesses being aligned with respect to a mid-surface line extending at least partially along the length of said structure” as recited in claim 1 and the distinct features of “a layer of a resilient filler interposed between said frame and said covering and having a through cavity”, “at least one gel insert interposed between the covering and the frame in said through cavity of said resilient filler” and “protuberances or recesses being aligned with respect to a mid-surface line extending at least partially along the length of said structure” as recited in claim 30.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled “Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.”
